CBAP[®] Exam Preparation Course

The International Institute of Business Analysts' Certified Business Analysis Professional (CBAP)[®] Certification – formal recognition of knowledge, skills and experience in Business Analysis

Abstract

The CBAP[®] credential is a globally recognized business analysis industry certification. The focus of the course is to maximize candidate chances of successfully obtaining their CBAP[®] Certification.

Candidates applying for the CBAP[®] need to have 7,500 hours of business analysis experience in the last ten years across at least four of the six knowledge areas and have proof of having completed at least 21 hours of suitable business analysis related professional development within the last four years before sitting and passing the CBAP[®] Exam. This course will provide 14 of the 21 hours.

Who should attend

Experienced Business Analysts.

Pre-requisites

Either

14 Hours training in Business Analysis (attendance at either of the following training courses: Requirements Elicitation Analysis Design or Enterprise Analysis and Requirements Management)

Plus a thorough reading of the BABOK[®] Guide

Or

Attendance at both training courses: Requirements Elicitation Analysis Design and Enterprise Analysis and Requirements Management or equivalent level of training.
